Kim Falconi is an accomplished, award winning teacher and choreographer in all forms of dance and acrobatics. She has performed on television and stage throughout her career. She is proud to have spent many years training as a triple threat performer which has led her to achieve many of her life time goals. Kim was a featured acrobat in the opera "Aida". She travelled to Cleveland where she was a member of the girls singing group "She Said" and is very happy to be a former "Miss Dance of Canada".

Kim is a certified DMA teacher where in many of her students have been able to rank nationally in this organization. Some of her former students are now dancing in theatrical shows and companies across North America and Europe. Kim is a highly sought after adjudicator and choreographer, because of her strong technical background and commitment to the artistry of dance. She has been pleased to share her love and knowledge of dance with our students.

Kim's choreography has been recognized both regionally and nationally and her students have held numerous national titles. Kim is best known for her skills and choreography teaching acro (gymnastic) style dance.
